however, as the industry developed rapidly during and after the world war ii, and more people moved to the urban areas, the number of the boarding schools drastically decreased fembido australia